

50 Shades of Blonde

"Daft things my wife has said"

by Peter Sowerby

Foreword

My wife has said some pretty incredulous things during our time together, some of them common spoonerisms but occasionally an absolute nugget of joy.

After a couple of years I started documenting them and we'd laugh about them in retrospect, eventually we shared them with friends all how had similar experiences with someone we know.

So we decided to put them all together in a book for the world to enjoy.

In the interests of fairness I've allowed my wife a chance to defend herself against each one although I'm convinced some of them are indefensible.

Hope you enjoy it

Peter Sowerby

38 .Dating

Thought Crime

Whilst watching a tea time quiz show (Chase / Pointless / Tipping Point I can't remember which) one of the questions was;

Willard Libby won a Nobel Prize for discovering what kind of dating? (The Nobel Prize is a very prestigious scientific award)

Her answer was ... "Speed Dating?"

The actual answer to the science based question was carbon dating.

Defense

I panicked, it was the high speed cash builder round of The Chase™ and it's the 1st sort of dating I could think of!

Thanks for reading I hope you enjoyed it, look at for 50 Shades
Blonder later in 2017!

Pete & Suzi

